

Visiting the Bellevue Library

When I visit the Children's Department at the Bellevue Branch Library, I can talk quietly using my inside voice. Sometimes, the library gets very busy. When that happens, it can get very loud. Sometimes, a baby might cry.

I will try to walk when I am in the library. If the library is busy, sometimes there are a lot of children and grown-ups looking for books or reading or playing in different areas. There are activities on the wall that I can sit and play with. There are also computers that I can sit down and use to play ABC Mouse. There is an area in the back of the library with a table for toys and cushions I can sit on to read alone or with my grown-up. If I want to play on the internet, the librarian can also make me a reservation for a computer, but I might have to wait for one to be available. I will try to be patient if I have to wait for a computer. I will try to wait my turn if someone is playing with something I want to play with.

If I need help finding something, I can ask the librarian at the desk. The librarian can help me find books, DVDs, and audiobooks. The librarian can also help me check out books and put books on hold if they are not available when I am there. If I want, I can use the self-checkout computer to check out my own books. I can ask my grown-up if I need help.
