

Visiting the Richland Park Library

When I visit the children's department at the Richland Park Library, I will try and talk quietly using my inside voice. Sometimes the library gets very busy. When this happens, it can get very loud. Sometimes a baby might cry.

I will try to walk when I am in the library. When the library is busy, sometimes there are many children looking at books and playing in different areas. There are some games I can play, puppets I can pretend with, tablets I can play on, lots of books to look at and read, and children's computers. I will try to wait my turn if someone else is playing with or looking at something I want.

If I need help finding something, I can ask the librarian at the desk. The librarian can help me find books, DVDs, and audiobooks. The librarian can also help me check out books and other things to take home with me. Sometimes the book or movie I want is not there. The librarian can help me put it on a waiting list so I can take it home another day.

The librarian can also help me get on a computer, but I might have to wait for one to be available. I will try to be patient if I have to wait for a computer. When I am ready, I can go home from the library.
